"Kelly" the Collie gets a welcome home hug from master David Rebhahn, while his grandmother, Mrs. Marguerite Ploense of Pacifica looks on happily. Kelly was kidnapped nearly six months ago, when Mrs. Ploense moved from San Francisco. But, wisely, the family had a Social Security number tattooed on Kelly's thigh. The other day he was turned into the Peninsula Humane Society in San Mateo by a woman and three children, and the rightful owners were traced through the Social Security number. Other than being "very thin and hungry," the family reports, Kelly is the happiest dog in town.

He Sways Judges and Sentences Criminals

By DUANE SANDUL
When Thomas G. Andersen talks, judges listen. He doesn't have the latest tip on the stock market. Tom Andersen's "weight" is his signature. Nine times out of 10, criminals wind up doing what Andersen "approves." His job is that of supervisor for seven adult probation officers who make recommendations to judges on the sentence for all felony criminals.

Although statistics are not kept, Andersen and Superior Court Judges Frank Priombo and Alan W. Haverty agree that the recommendation of the probation officer is followed in substance about nine out of 10 times.

There are many modifications, such as six months instead of nine months in county jail. But, by and large, the recommendation of seven men, approved by Andersen, spells the fate for felony criminals.

There are exceptions. For instance, recently Superior Court Judge Gerald E. Ragan refused to put a convicted heroin dealer in prison despite the recommendation of the probation officer, backed by that of state officials who concluded that the man's probation violations were so serious he should be in prison. Judge Ragan, instead, suspended a prison term and put the man on probation — giving him, in essence, one more chance.

Who gets to be a probation officer with this authority? What criteria are used? In an interview, Andersen answered those and other questions.

The seven men assigned to the task are chosen because of their exceptional ability to write reports, to organize and their experience in the field.

A probation report to a judge contains the criminal, medical, employment, educational and family background of a defendant.

Andersen readily concedes that, like judges, some of the probation officers have reputations ranging from "hardnoses" to "soft." He said he considers that when assigning and reviewing cases.

When Andersen reviews a case he looks at the seriousness of the crime, the criminal sophistication of the defendant, and ponders whether the offense was out of character or part of a pattern.

"If it's out of character, we're not apt to recommend jail," Andersen said. "If it's a pattern in serious or assaultive behavior, we're likely to recommend prison."

Still, the recommendations are subjective. There is no set formula.

How do the recommending probation officers view certain crimes in terms of punishment?

"Most of the officers view robbery as a prison-type offense," Andersen said. "Commercial burglary (of businesses and industries) is generally cause for probation initially, but a residential burglary is looking at a prison recommendation, even if it's a first offense."

Andersen said his officers tend to think of those who commit sexual offenses as having "some mental or psychological problem rather than criminal."

A court-deemed mentally disordered sexual offender is likely to spend months, if not years, in a hospital.

Sound Like a Re-run? DC Scolds TV Firm

By FRANK LAPIERRE
It looked and sounded like a summer television repeat show at city hall in Daly City Monday.

There was the council scolding Vista Grande Cable television company for not maintaining its system in top working order and for poor customer service relations.

And the same representatives who had appeared before the council last year were again explaining why the system was still not quite up to snuff, and how they were spending thousands of dollars to bring patrons the very best in television viewing.

Lastly, there were the irate cable television customers, with their complaints against the company — from failure to keep appointments to allegedly incompetent telephone answering service personnel.

Even the ending of the three-hour-long performance was familiar: Setting another public hearing to determine whether Vista Grande's exclusive franchise with the city should be terminated.

The public hearing was set by the council for Nov. 22 at 8 p.m.

Before the council took this action, those attending the Monday night hearing listened to a bit of poetry that councilman William Schumacher said "an old judge" once recited to him:

"Shame me once, shame on you. Shame me twice, shame on me." "You've already shamed me about six times," Schumacher told Vista Grande representatives Harold R. Farrow, an attorney, and W. R. Brazeal, Executive Vice President of Telecommunications, Inc., of Denver.

TCI is the parent company for Vista Grande. For the past three years, the company has been struggling to meet demands set by the council for better service and completion of the entire system. Both are pending.

Monday's council decision came in the wake of a special consultant's report on the local cable television system.

The report pointed up the fact that the system could be better and suggested alternatives for upgrading it.

In turn Monday, every member of the council took aim at Vista Grande and fired a strong verbal barrage at the company's alleged failure to keep past promises.

Councilman McRobert Stewart said the council had, in the past, gone out of its way to be fair with the company "but this council is through bending."

Strongest language in describing the current situation came from councilman Al Teglia who attempted to explain a statement made by a fellow councilman.

"What (Councilman Victor) Kyriakis is saying is get off your duffs and fix up the system," Teglia said.

Kyriakis had made a motion which said Vista Grande did not meet the requirements of its city franchise.

It was believed this motion was the prelude to asking that the contract with Vista Grande be terminated.

But City Attorney Albert Polonsky and Schumacher argued the company would not be given due process under the law and convinced Kyriakis to withdraw his motion.

Polonsky, while charging Vista Grande's past action appeared to be one of "reaction, rather than action," said the council first had to give the company a list of charges before proceeding with termination of its franchise.

It was also pointed out that Vista Grande's showing of pay TV movies on its system had not been approved by the city.

Schumacher said he was "surprised" to learn this and informed the company "I don't like this at all."

Mayor Anthony Giammona, in one of the strongest denunciations of the company, said he had been hearing "the same story concerning complaints (about Vista's service) for the past four years. It's so frustrating (because) whatever you tell us just doesn't happen."

"You lost me a year ago and I'm still lost," Giammona told the company representatives.

Last year, Giammona voted to cancel the company's franchise.

Girl Kills Self In DC Police Car

A 15-year-old Daly City girl reportedly shot and killed herself in the back seat of a police car that was returning her home after she ran away following a family argument Saturday night.

The victim, identified as Lynne Feldman, of 51 Northridge Drive, shot herself in the left side of the head with a .22 caliber automatic pistol she had hidden on her person, according to police reports.

The incident was the first of its kind in the history of the Daly City Police Department, a spokesman said.

Miss Feldman was reported by her parents to be a runaway following a family argument late Saturday afternoon.

Officer Paul Furhman had gone to the Feldman home to investigate the complaint and was returning to the police department when he spotted the girl inside a service station phone booth not far from her home.

The girl quietly got into the back seat of the patrol car and was being driven home at about 8 p.m. when officer Furhman said he heard what sounded "like a firecracker" being exploded in the rear seat of the police car.

When he turned around, he saw that the girl had shot herself.

Furhman is a three year veteran of the police department. He has had several favorable citations for his work in the community.

Lt. Tom Culley said it was up to each officer to use his own discretion whether a body search is conducted on a person before being placed in a patrol car.

"A few years ago, we searched everyone before we put them in a patrol car," Culley said. "But the public outcry was so great we were forced to modify our policy."

Many people — especially parents of teenagers resented police "frisking" their children, who perhaps had been picked up for little more than being a runaway juvenile, Culley said.

Miss Feldman gave Officer Furhman no cause for suspicion.

She was wearing Levis and a windbreaker and followed the officer's instructions without comment, the incident report explains.

"There was simply no reason for Officer Furhman to suspect the victim was either armed or dangerous," Culley said.

Pacifica Planners Say Delay Blame Is Unfair

Pacifica Planning Commissioners said Monday the city is being unfairly blamed for the delay in major construction projects, and have requested a staff report to clarify the city's role in the delays.

The commissioners were reacting to comments made at a "Town Hall" meeting last week in Pacifica at which more than 500 persons attended.

The meeting was the first of its kind for the coastal city.

One of the concerns expressed by residents during the gathering was that the city staff has been responsible for development getting bogged down and taking years to reach completion.

Financially strapped Pacifica is particularly concerned about speeding up projects because many of them mean a boost in the city's sales tax and property tax revenue, which is among the lowest of all cities in San Mateo County.

Commercial developments in Pacifica are few and far between. Those which do come before the Planning Commission are given careful attention.

The commission Monday night had just acted to give a one-year extension to a 46-unit townhouse development proposal when Commissioner Ellie McGuire spoke up.

"I'd like it known this commission is moving eagerly ahead," Mrs. McGuire said in referring to projects in general.

She said the commission's progress is contrary to what citizens voiced at the Town Hall gathering.

Commissioner Jim Brush requested that the planning staff prepare a list of all projects approved in the last year by the commission but which, for one reason or another, have not been constructed.

"The city is getting blamed for it unjustly," Brush said.

Planning Administrator Mac Carpenter said that list will be prepared.

The commission granted the one-year extension to Kay Homes of Burlingame.

Architect Gary Johnson had said the firm had been reorganized and needed more time to prepare site development plans.

The developer has planned 46 townhouses on Fassler Avenue across from Crespi Drive.

Johnson said the developer still intends to build the project, despite the reorganization.

The continuation will start on Dec. 8.

Johnson sought only a six-month continuation but was granted a year in a motion by Commissioner Jim Harrison.

Harrison said it would prevent the commission from having to take time to grant another extension if the developer unexpectedly can't meet the six-month continuation deadline.

Mrs. McGuire voted against the motion, saying the developer should be given the amount of time he requested since he probably "knows something we don't."

Labor, Builders' Coalition Blasts Area 'No-Growthers'

By JANET REINKA
Staff Writer

Blaming the high cost of housing in the county and inflation nationwide on "no-growth" and bureaucratic red tape, a coalition of builders and labor rallied Thursday behind the man they believe will represent their interests on the county Board of Supervisors.

It was billed as "San Mateo County Good Government Night" and it gathered under one roof members of the building trades unions, developers, suppliers, and members of the Concerned Citizens Coalition, a local citizens group.

But they were all there to honor a man whose name, glowing in brilliant orange letters five feet high across a whole wall, dominated the room, Daly City Councilman McRobert Stewart.

Stewart is running in the Fifth District race against Fred Lyon, regarded as the "no-growth" candidate.

"The best form of government is local government," Stewart said at one point, stirring the 100 persons present to applaud.

And comments by Henry "Bud" Bostwick of the San Mateo County Development Association, and Robert L. Follett, General Manager of Visitation Associates, held to the same theme — non-elected agencies have taken away the rights of private property.

"When they talk about stopping growth, they're hurting everybody in this room and out of it," Stewart said.

The current housing crisis and unemployment in the building trades is the result of concern about the environment at all costs, regulatory agencies that in effect prohibit expansion, and the failure of the business community to make its voice known, they said.

"I call this reaction on the part of environmental groups a simple form of hysteria," Bostwick said. "It is an inability to cope with change. Economic growth is desirable. As we look at the 80's, we must accept the fact that we can accept growth."

Citing his own problems developing San Bruno Mountain, Follett of Visitation Associates said since 1967 he has spent $3 million in studies required by governmental agencies.

He said his "holding cost" while legal disputes over the mountain's development are going on is $5,000 per day.

"As each day passes, the cost of every home we ultimately build will cost the buyer proportionately," he said. "The average price of new homes in the county now is $82,000. And you tell me where these new family formations are going to find housing in San Mateo County?"

Follett said environmentalists can, for the cost of a filing fee, tie up millions of dollars and prevent new homes from being built.

He said commissions are usually comprised of young, idealistic people who "have never worked for private enterprise and want to clean up the air or water no matter what the other consequences are."

Follett said that for every environmental impact report that must be filed, a corresponding economic impact report should also be required.

"Private property is in effect being confiscated," he said. "Delayed building permits in practice amount to denied building permits. The housing shortage and inflation are indirect by-products of no-growth policies."

But the battle against inflation and unemployment may bring back the economic facts of life.

BROWNING'S FRIENDS

City Librarian Samuel Chandler and members of the Daly City library staff Velma Yule and John Sullivan pore over some of Robert Browning's works in advance of a program, "Three Poems I'll Never Forget by Robert Browning," at 10 a.m.,

Thursday. Looking on is Olga Canada, book review chairman (right). The review will be in the community room of Serramonte Library. Chandler will discuss the merit and uniqueness of the poet.

concerned, there's no such thing as a victimless crime.

If nothing else, a defendant's family is a victim. A wife may suffer deprivation if he goes to jail, the kids get involved.

The basic feeling about drug users is that criminally it's not that serious, but they screw up their lives," Andersen said.

Dealers who deal to support their habit is more understandable than dealers who deal for profit."

The latter are likely to receive recommendations for prison. The former are likely to receive recommendations for two, or three drug rehabilitation programs.

"I instruct our people not to try to tailor to or out-guess a judge," Andersen said. "I tell them to ignore the plea bargains."

If a judge, upon reviewing a report, refuses to honor a plea bargain, a defendant can withdraw his plea and go to trial.

Does media coverage of cases effect a recommendation?

"We have to be super careful because we know more people will be looking over our shoulder," Andersen said. "So, publicity affects a case in that we may have even more extra justification for a recommendation."

The judges are among the biggest fans of Andersen's staff.

One lawyer put it this way. "In some counties, the D.A. and the probation staff are at odds, so all sentences are arranged with the judge. But not here. The probation staff is fair, and both sides recognize it."

That's probably at least one reason why Tom Andersen has served in his role since 1966.

Burl. Man Killed

A 75-year-old Burlingame man was killed instantly Monday night when he stumbled and fell in front of a northbound railroad train just after 8:30 p.m.

Charles Madison Gee, 1007 Burlingame Ave., was not identified until this morning, however, according to police. The dead man's daughter, Carol Gee of the same Burlingame Avenue address, telephoned police this morning to report that her father was missing. Police say she identified the dead man as her missing father.

State Fire Chief Will Speak to SSF Chamber

State Fire Marshal Philip C. Favro will be the guest speaker at the annual South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce Fire Prevention Award luncheon to be held Oct. 6 at Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco.

The luncheon will mark Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 3-9.

Also scheduled to speak is South San Francisco Fire Chief Lawrence A. Toellner. Chief Toellner will introduce newly-appointed South San Francisco Fire Marshal Art Maguire, who will present the awards.

Receiving the awards will be former South San Francisco Fire Marshal Jack Drago, Marian Leitner and Georgia Maguire, who worked as members of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce Fire Prevention Committee.

It is a voluntary citizens' group in a fire prevention program which culminated in February, when it was announced that South San Francisco was a winner in the nationwide National Fire Protection Association Fire Prevention Contest.

South San Francisco came in ninth in the United States, second in U.S. Municipalities Class V, and third place in California.

South San Francisco now displays for its efforts a handsome plaque from the National Fire Protection Association, as well as a plaque signifying appreciation from the Western Fire Chiefs Association.

South San Francisco's entry in the contest was in the form of a huge scrapbook comprising selections, samples and photographs of Fire Department and Fire Prevention Committee contributions during the year to the cause of fire prevention.

Inclusions in the scrapbook were carefully stockpiled and its design engineered by Marian Leitner.

Contents included samples of articles by a local columnist.

Former Fire Marshal Jack Drago acted as Advisor to the Committee and coordinated the efforts of Fire Department personnel with members of the Fire Prevention Committee. Activities ranged from introduction of an elementary school program in fire prevention to a display of the Firebird 90 Platform Truck in operation.

No-host cocktails will be served at 11:45 a.m. The luncheon is scheduled to begin at 12:15 p.m. The public is invited. Reservations can be made by calling the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce at 588-1911.

submit the city and county's case. Other cities are expected to join the effort. Labor, represented by the Coalition of Concerned Citizens, will join the city-county delegation.

The allocation of five minutes on the state highway commission's packed agenda was recognized as a major concession. It was made possible by the intercession of state Sen. Arlen Gregorio.

For this the council expressed its appreciation. At the same time it agreed with Councilman Floyd E. Welch, who said, that while it may not be politic, he had to point out that Gregorio was in large part responsible for the switch of funds from the 19th Avenue interchange project to Interstate 380 in San Bruno. This was another major cause for the delay in having the temporary substructure, built for only three years in 1970, rebuilt on a permanent basis.

Gregorio has been inconsistent, Welch emphasized. He has not only dropped his support of 380, but in response to the opposition expressed largely by some environmentalists, is opposing the extension of 380 to the Coastside.

Welch underscored the need for a permanent reconstruction of the interchange and further, the extension of 19th Avenue to Half Moon Bay. He reminded that within three years garbage trucks will be hauling refuse from throughout the county to Ox Mountain. The only road available is the narrow, twisting, two-way Half Moon Bay Road.

Murray and the council instructed the staff to alert all affected cities, including Foster City, Hayward, others in this and Alameda counties, to join forces with San Mateo in the October presentation.

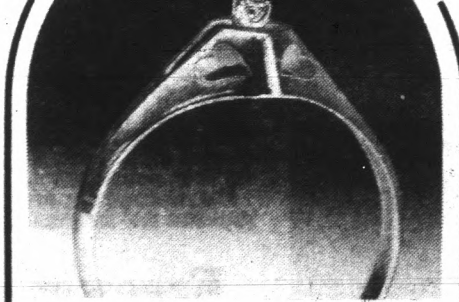

The mayor said the plan is to send resolutions petitioning the state legislature, the California Transportation Department, the Metropolitan Transportation Commission to find funds to permanently rebuild the interchange.

"I'll go farther," Welch said. "We must recognize that three years from now when all the garbage from the county goes over to Ox Mountain we will be faced with a horrible traffic situation."

Murray said he will make an appeal for the state highway commission to consider possibility of using San Mateo-Hayward toll bridge funds to finance state revenue bonds, making money immediately available for a permanent replacement of the interchange.

Tuesday City Manager John C. Lilly appeared before the county board of supervisors to make the same appeal, including all of the arguments discussed by the council Monday night, enlisting supervisors' support.

CHICKEN AND DUMPLINGS

3½ to 4 lb. stewing chicken cut into serving pieces. Place cut up chicken on a rack in a heavy kettle, add giblets, 4 or 5 cups chicken base or stock, 1 med. size onion, carrot, celery stalk and a sprig of thyme. Cover and simmer gently 3 to 4 hours or until meat begins to loosen from bones. Add more chicken stock if needed. During the last 20 min. of cooking skim off excess fat and add 1 tsp. salt. Now use the following dumpling recipe:

¼ tsp. bouquet garni beef
¼ cup milk plus 2 tbs.
1 cup biscuit mix

¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. parsley
¼ tsp. sugar

Combine all ingredients except biscuit mix. Mix well and stir into biscuit mix to make a soft dough. Drop spoonfuls onto chicken and replace cover tightly and simmer 20 min. without lifting cover; arrange chicken on a platter; surround with dumplings. Makes 8 dumplings. Serves 4 to 6 people.

THE FINAL DAYS

Pier Ranger Marty Reed, center, that after Sept. 30 there will be no stops to answer questions of two at the pier to answer questions and Pacifica residents. It now appears enforce municipal pier ordinances.

Pier Ranger Jobs Ending In Pacifica

By JANET PARKER

It was only 9 a.m. but already pier ranger Marty Reed had been at work three hours cleaning up the remnants of a hectic weekend.

The 1,500-foot pier jutting from Pacifica's Sharp Park area had to be hosed down and swept while a few diehard fishermen cast their lines and senior citizens strolled in the morning sun.

More than 600 persons visited the pier to fish on Labor Day alone, to view the ocean or get a glimpse of the catch of the day — the last of the three-day weekend.

"A lot of people come out here and they just want somebody to talk to," Reed said.

Clean-up, he said, is especially troublesome after the holiday. "The volume of clean-up is directly proportional to the volume of people out here." Until recently, there were two pier rangers, both funded by the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). But the other ranger, Carl Smith, ended his maximum two-year stint with CETA earlier this month.

A three-month extension of CETA funding by Congress assures Reed, 25, of the pier ranger job only until Sept. 30.

The Pacifica City Council — faced with the termination of nearly 20 employees this year — made it quite clear that there's no room in the budget for pier rangers.

Thus, Park Supt. Sylvester Duplessis is wondering how the city is going to be able to maintain the pier, enforce municipal ordinances relating to pier use and continue to make the pier a safe place for recreation.

It will be up to the council, Duplessis said, to decide just how that pier will be run without rangers in the months after Sept. 30.

"I don't know how we're going to get the place cleaned up," Duplessis said.

It's apparent, he said, that maintenance crews used elsewhere in the city must be assigned to some clean-up duties on the pier.

Normal maintenance, Reed said, includes hose-downs twice a week, cleaning fish scales from sinks and emptying garbage cans.

But then other areas of the city probably will be neglected, Duplessis said.

And, there are many municipal ordinances that must be enforced to make the pier a safe place for fishermen, children and senior citizens who use the 3-year-old facility, he said.

The police department, he said, has time only to drive by the pier and not to get out of the car and patrol.

"There's no way they can handle the job," Duplessis said.

For example, city ordinances prohibit animals, especially dogs, on the pier at anytime. Reed shoed a persistent Siberian husky and his mongrel companion off the pier as he talked.

"A lot of people think I'm the game warden," Reed said. "I neither confirm nor deny it."

He said he can get a Fish and Game warden on the pier if necessary, but most of the problems which arise are handled with a simple warning.

A frequent problem is overhead casting by fishermen. Although it's prohibited by city ordinance, rangers don't always cite violators.

"A lot of times we'll just warn somebody and record that warning," Reed said. "If we know somebody knows about the law, we'll cite them."

The ranger carries a Fish and Game card as a reference for the many questions fishermen and other pier users have.

Monday, he said, he warned a half dozen people about collecting crabs. The crawling marine creature is out of season.

Occasionally, inexperienced fishermen must be warned that their bass or salmon catch is too small to keep, he said.

He's also called upon to enforce parking laws around the pier and cite illegally parked vehicles.

"The ranger is like an education or advisory person for the public," Reed said. Sometimes he has to yell at surfers that they are too close to the pier for their own safety.

Before rangers were obtained through CETA, the police department did all it could "which wasn't very much," Duplessis said.

There was costly vandalism when the pier was unpatrolled, Duplessis said. The tall lamps — worth $51 apiece — frequently were pelted by rock-throwing vandals.

Heavy concrete benches were ripped from their foundations and hurled into the water below. Replacement cost for one of those benches is $485, and Pacifica had to pay for a number of them, Duplessis said.

Vandalism hasn't been entirely eliminated with the presence of rangers but it has diminished during the hours rangers have been on duty, he said.

And if the pier isn't cleaned up, Duplessis said, the debris from fishermen and other pier users probably will end up in the ocean.

Without a twice-a-week hose-down, the pier will be "smelly as heck," Duplessis said.

But public relations — being there to help people from all over the county who use the pier — is "the key," Duplessis said. "We try to keep rangers on a low key basis, we want to try and help more people than hinder them."

"Just the fact that people know somebody is here makes a difference," Reed said.

Teachers Suffer Setback In Court Ruling

By JANET PARKER
A Superior Court judge ruled Thursday that sufficient grounds have not been presented for removing letters of reprimand from the files of 11 South San Francisco teachers who participated in a strike last year.

However, Judge Robert Carey in Redwood City gave the California Teachers Association (CTA) 30 days to amend its complaint and have another courtroom hearing.

CTA attorney Horace Wheatley said he will file the amendments.

The South San Francisco Classroom Teachers Association sought a court ruling earlier this year asking that the district show cause why the letters should not be removed from the files of the 11 teachers.

The majority of the South San Francisco Unified School District's 500 teachers went on strike for two weeks in June 1975.

Six months later, the letters were filed by the Board of Trustees listing charges against the teachers in connection with the turbulent strike.

CTA officials have said the letters constitute vendettas and that they are in violation of a "no-reprisals" clause of the strike settlement. That clause said there would be no reprisals "based on the withholding of services."

District officials have argued that the letters have nothing to do with so-called "reprisals."

Deputy District Atty. Lee Port said the letters stemmed from charges made by parents, community members and others during the strike.

In fact, she told Judge Carey Thursday, the district received a total of 125 complaints.

The district, she said, took three or four months to go through all the complaints and determine which ones merited some action. The district, Mrs. Port added, had a responsibility to respond.

"If these parents find their channels of complaint cut off... the whole statutory scheme is going to be upset," she said. The no-reprisals clause, she said, has been interpreted many ways.

It was never the intent of the district to condone actions that took place during the strike by individual teachers other than the withholding of services, Mrs. Port claimed.

The CTA did win two points with Judge Carey.

The judge ruled, contrary to the district's arguments, that the CTA does have a right to represent teachers in the courtroom and that the district can be compelled to remove such letters from the files without violating state penal codes.

Mrs. Port had said the destruction of government documents, as in the case of letters of reprimand, constitutes a criminal act.

She also said that the Rodda Act — new legislation that governs public school negotiations — allows a teachers' union to represent teachers only in labor negotiations, not in the courtroom.

"I am amazed counsel has just ignored the 14th Amendment to the Constitution," Wheatley said. In that amendment, he said, public and private unions do have a right to represent employees in labor relations and that's precisely what is occurring.

The question, which remains unanswered, however, is if the district abused its discretion in filing letters with only 11 teachers.

"The action taken was selective, punitive and discriminatory," Wheatley said.

Mrs. Port said there is such a thing as "just" discrimination.

The district, she said, decided which complaints merited filing and which did not.

Other actions, including a one-year suspension of a teaching credential, were possible but were not taken, she pointed out.

Judge Carey, in his ruling, said a school board does have the power to destroy certain public records under certain procedures.

Destruction of letters of reprimand, he said, does not appear to constitute a criminal act.

However, he added, the CTA has not clearly shown that the SSFUSD officials abused their discretion in filing the letters.

The specific content of those letters has not been released. CTA members have said they deal with activity by teachers on the picket lines and on the school grounds during the strike.

County Proposal Approved

Implementation of a reorganization plan which will reduce the number of county departments from 32 to 19 was approved Tuesday by a 4 to 1 vote of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisor Edward J. Baccicco Jr. voted against the action, contending that the reorganization plan should be subject to the approval of the new county manager who will replace M.D. Tarshes when the latter's resignation becomes effective Jan. 31.

The reorganization calls for the creation of two new departments — Community Services and Environmental Management — under which several existing departments "will be grouped as divisions."

Tarshes told the board that he plans to name the heads of the new departments from within the county government structure and have them on the job by Nov. 1.

The new positions, he said, will be offset by the reduction of administrative aides in the manager's office. There currently are three such positions vacant in his office.

Included in the plan is the reorganization of the manager's office. Tarshes said that the remaining seven professional positions below the level of assistant county manager will be divided into an administrative section (four or five positions) and a fiscal section (two or three positions).

Ralph Boynton, a member of the Citizens Task Force on County Governmental Operations, said the group "favors 90 per cent" of the reorganization plan. However, he reiterated that the Task Force proposal of several months ago that the manager's office be reorganized to include a program and cost analysis staff and a budget manager.

Boynton suggested that reorganization of the manager's office remain "open" until a new manager takes over.

Tarshes contended that his proposal for reorganization of his office responds "in part" to the Task Force recommendations.

"We expect the fiscal section to do the same as the Task Force budget manager," he stated. "It's a rope bridge across the gulf to reach the same objective."

Robert Browning Works Open Book Reviews

Samuel Chandler, the Daly City Librarian, will be the guest reviewer tomorrow at 10 a.m. when the Friends of the Daly City Library present the first of their fall series of book reviews.

Mrs. Joseph Canada, the book review chairman, reports that Chandler has selected three poems by Robert Browning to be reviewed and discussed in light of the uniqueness of Browning's writing.

The review will be held in the Community Room of the Serramonte Library. Following the meeting, a no-host luncheon, honoring Chandler, will be held in the New Southern Restaurant in South San Francisco. Anyone interested in attending the review is invited to drop into the library at 10 a.m. and enjoy a cup of coffee, meet the members and enjoy Chandler's insights into life and writing style of one of England's most famous poets. Reservations for the luncheon will be taken by Mrs. Canada at the meeting. Everyone is welcome.

Before you head for the library, you might bundle up some books, records and/or sheet music and donate them to the Friends of the Library book fair, coming up Oct. 2. Bette Martinez is the fair's chairwoman; aided by Mrs. Canada, pricing: Mrs. Virginia Tierney, publicity, and Mrs. Denise Schwarzbach, Arthur Armitage, Mrs. Verna Teglia, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schnapp, Ellyn Canada, and Mrs. Lois Manbert.

Used books may be left at any of the Daly City branches of the library and persons wishing information about contributing or helping with the fair may call Mrs. Martinez, 992-1678.

VICKIE HACKETT indicates that the next meeting of the Board of Directors of the Balboa Alumni Association will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m., in the teachers' lunchroom.

Regular business and the association's newsletter will be on the agenda.

For information about the meeting or the association call Mrs. Emily Sumrall, president, 392-8969.

TAKING TO THE STAGE to model clothing from Serramonte's Little Daisy for the local Lioness Club fashion show and luncheon will be Mrs. Terri Bytof, Mrs. May Charette, Mrs. Pat Hansen, Mrs. Ginny Letsinger, Mrs. Gena Rohi, Mrs. Nanda Stewart and Mrs. Jeanne Tomasello.

The show, to be held this Saturday at noon in the Westlake Community Center, is a fund-raiser to help support the club's philanthropic programs, which include Operation Santa Claus and the Lions' Eye Foundation.

Commentator Saturday will be Mrs. Kaye Moon, president of the Daly City Host Lioness Club. Mrs. Nanda Stewart is the fashion coordinator and Mrs. Pat Hansen is the ticket chairman. Mrs. Virginia Tierney is the publicity chairman.

MRS. CAROLINE FUTRELL is chairing the big Girl Scout display showcase Saturday, 10 a.m. - 5 p.m., on the mall of the Westlake Shopping Center.

Scouts who have taken part in the Wider Opportunity program will be displaying their "swaps," cadets and juniors will be singing songs, presenting programs and performing skits, all as a means of acquainting new girls with the Scouting program.

"Watch Us Grow" material on membership will be available, as will be balloons. Adults and girls are invited to drop by and talk about the Scout troops in this area, according to Mrs. Roz Morino, local publicity chairman.

IT'S GETTING CLOSE to time again for members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild and chairwoman Helen Corbet is urging everyone to make reservations now for the Oct. 2 bash to be held in the Westlake Community Center.

Guild members will model island fashions 10:08 hear from Ron's Hawaiian Shop while guests enjoy cocktails, dinner and dancing.

A NICE, RELAXING trip to Lake Tahoe is the next, purely-for-fun event on the calendar of the North Peninsula Auxiliary Florence Crittenton Services.

Mrs. Corinne Beall and Mrs. Marie Poggio have been in charge of making the plans and arrangements for the Oct. 3 trip and they announced their plans for the trip at the board meeting held in Mrs. Peggy Cradall's home earlier this month.

Other business discussed at the meeting, which Mrs. Verna Teglia was chairwoman, included the need for more clothing and bric-a-brac to stock the Still Stylish Shop now that it has moved to a new location. Mrs. Berta Macklin is in charge of that project and she will be glad to hear from anyone with donations of usable, saleable items.

MRS. JANICE McCRAVEY reports that the next thing on the agenda for members of the San Francisco Alumnae chapter of Alpha Iota sorority is the big sorority conclave to be held in Stockton Oct. 9 and 10.

Members who are not going to be able to attend will hear a report on the two-day session at the regular meeting of the chapter on Thursday, Oct. 14, in the home of Mrs. Olga Neville.

LESS THAN FIFTY cases of 1977 Girl Scout calendars have been ordered for the Daly City Area Association so troop leaders and/or troop calendar chairmen should contact Karen Rodgers (124 Shipley Drive, Daly City - 992-2527) immediately with their own orders.

ASSOCIATION MEETING for the first fall term is set for Sept. 28 from 7:30 to 9 p.m., according to Daly City Girl Scout Association Chairman Mary Ann Dale.

An OBIS strategy and an open forum with consultants are on the agenda, which will also include sign-ups for fall events such as the Junior Jamboree and the Brownie Play Day.

BYOM is the order of the evening with adults requested to Bring Your Own Mug for coffee as Girl Scouts would prefer not to destroy trees by purchasing styrofoam cups.

Dessert will be provided by the Daly City Girl Scout Association Service Team.

Parking fees also will be reimbursed.

Volunteers, who must be fully qualified and licensed to drive a car, will be covered by automobile liability insurance. Those interested in joining the Free Wheelers volunteer group may contact the Cancer Society office, 1163 Chess Drive, Foster City, or June Peterson, chairman of the program.

"Ivan the Terrible" is terrible, the most awful television picture about people in another country yet produced in America — even worse than "Hogan's Heroes."

While Hogan contained some witty dialogue and clever situations, Ivan has neither. To cover up the rotter-me-ree, the actors are forced into gestures and antics that assure the viewer that they know the whole show is nonsense regardless of what the producer thinks.

"Ivan the Terrible" seeks to make humor by portraying a middle-class family in Russia. The picture it gives would lead one to believe that the Russians are a silly people and therefore not equal to Americans.

Such foolishness in the name of entertainment leads one to Matthew Arnold's merciless appraisal. Americans live "in exaggeration and boastfulness; in a false smartness, a false audacity, a want of soul and delicacy."

IF THERE IS A TV show worse than Ivan, it is "Wonder Woman," which subjects the viewers to heroic feats, one after another, in an effort to convince them that American women are equal to the equality some claim they do not possess.

It is bad enough to watch such a theme displayed in Policewoman shows, but, now, we see a dame with stars on her pants delivering a knockout punch "to her man" to protect him from himself.

More than that, we see her leap over the Empire State Building to catch a Russian plane that is worrying the helpless males that make up the United States armed forces.

Television is afraid of pressure groups. Hence, all the villains and fools must be white men, while the heroes must be female, or black men or Asians or, at least uncommon white men. Let them offend anyone, the TV commercials must make fools of senior citizens or husbands too witless to realize that toothpaste does not have to be white or that colored clothes can be washed in cold water with bleach "right there in the washer."

FIVE MINUTES OF VIEWING such stuff sends one flying to Donald Glut and Jim Harmon, whose book, "The Great Television Heroes" (Doubleday, 1975), urges viewers to "remember when a television set was not regarded scornfully as an 'idiot box,' but was considered something special."

Glut and Harmon write that the era of the 40s and 50s were "the Golden Age of Television." Their book groups the TV heroes of that age into two sections. "Ray Guns, Puppets and Comskin Caps" is the first, while the second is called "Comedians, Cowboys, the Private Eye and Live Drama."

In the first there are nine chapters which tell of heroes — Captain Video for example — who were a composite of the best traits of adolescents or of bumbling huddies and wacky wives who let their audience know that the show was produced for entertainment and not fill a social purpose.

This accounts for the difference in Chester A. Riley and Archie Bunker, for example.

Pack 296 Has Busy Summer of Activity

Cub and Webelos Scouts of Pack 296 in South San Francisco, enjoyed a busy summer of activities.

On May 29 the Cubs and Webelos decorated the headstones at the Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno, each one with an American flag.

Then Cub Scout Master Dennis Pierotti had the Cubs and Webelos and their families all over for donuts and hot chocolate.

Pam Thompson and Sue Peruzzi took over the monthly summer meetings. In June they had a scavenger hunt.

The July meeting took them to San Bruno Park for an afternoon of fun at the park, then making their own huge pot of soup.

Each boy brought a few things to throw in. In August the boys toured the main Post Office in South San Francisco, then out to Oyster Point.

June 12 was the Cub Scout Picnic at Fettes Springs park at Boyes Springs. Twenty Scouts and families attended. Swimming, baseball and hiking were enjoyed by all. Then all the families joined in cooking their own barbecue.

The July outing was a fun day at Buri, Buri School. Eight families joined in.

In the second section, there are 14 chapters. The last, which is entitled, "Theater in Your Living Room," sets an ideal that television has failed to attain.

Through most of the fifties, people in cities and small towns, rich, poor, middle class, could see some of the finest theatrical plays of a classic stature, and some promising new ones, right on their own TV sets," it states.

Demo Rule Decried

By GEORGE GOLDING

California is going to blaze in a handbasket, Redwood City Assemblyman Dixon Arnett told the San Mateo Rotary Club Thursday, because of a breakdown in the two-party system.

"It would be just as bad if it was Republican," Arnett told the Rotarians, but the problem is that the governor and the majority of both the state Senate and Assembly are Democrats.

As a result, he said, "some very bad legislation" is being made into law.

Arnett cited the new Coastal Zone law, which adds massive slices of real estate to the narrow strip of beach approved by California voters a few years ago.

"No longer is the Coastal Zone 1,000 yards; it is as much as five miles.

"In San Mateo County," he said, "it stretches from the coastline to the Skyline ridge" and includes school districts which will suffer because of the new restrictions.

Arnett described the Coastal Zone law as "a disaster" for the state and especially for San Mateo County.

In an annual report to the Rotary Club on the legislature, Arnett said a whole series of bad laws has been passed by a legislature in which one party dominates 55-25 in the Assembly and 25-15 in the Senate.

"When one calculates the numbers it takes to get a two-thirds vote" on such things as finance bills, he said, it is easy to see that "if one party holds the governor's office and a majority of both houses, it can do anything it wants to."

He suggested local business and professional men ought to be concerned about this "because this has immense impact on the way you do things in daily life."

Assemblyman Arnett described Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. as a "Mr. Chintzy" who refused to sign any school law carrying money provisions, yet later signed a $250 million appropriation for schools without even reading it.

He said the governor's actions have amounted to "fraud" and "outright lies," and he accused him of "managing the news media" by never holding open press conferences but granting only limited private interviews.

"Anyone in public life who does that can make himself look like a hero," he said, "but that's no way to manage the store."

Arnett said Brown "is not managing the store," and fails to pay attention to major items which require "85 per cent of the sixth largest budget in the world." He said MediCal will "bankrupt the state within three years unless we get a handle on the burgeoning costs."

School finances likewise could throw the state into a situation as disastrous as New York's, he said, unless effective management is soon devised.

Arnett said he does not foresee any immediate change in school financing.

No one mentioned the Freeway 92 interchange problem and what is being done about the ramps at Bayshore Freeway which are in danger of collapsing.

Assemblyman To be Speaker

Assemblyman Louis Papan will be the guest speaker for the Oct. 1 meeting of the South San Francisco CAPTURE committee dedicated to crime prevention.

The meeting will be held in the South San Francisco School District Office.

South San Franciscan

He Wanted to Duel Lawman

The man on the phone to CHP Capt. John Hughes called several times from a South San Francisco bar.

Each time he called, he informed the veteran law officer he had a gun and wanted to challenge a police officer to a duel.

There was a twist to the man's challenge, Hughes noted: He wanted to be slain by the officer and promised he would not fire his own weapon.

At first, the caller was considered a crank.

But after repeated calls from the man, always telling of his desire to be gunned down by a policeman, Hughes took the caller seriously and alerted South San Francisco police.

The confrontation between Hughes and the "death wish" caller would be at the Manor House Bar, 107 Hickey Blvd., in South San Francisco, at about 6 p.m., it was agreed.

By 6 p.m. plainclothes officers from South San Francisco and the CHP had drifted into the bar and took up strategic locations around the room.

Detectives Jack Rhodes, Miff Singleton, Charles Zitterholm and Pat Sullivan spotted the caller and kept him under surveillance.

As the man walked toward a phone booth, apparently to again call Hughes who was late for the appointment, the officers moved in to apprehend him.

The man allegedly pulled a .22 caliber pistol from his belt and tried to fire it. However, Zitterholm grabbed the man's gun hand and put his own thumb between the hammer of the weapon and the bullet, thus preventing it from discharging.

Zitterholm suffered a cut thumb, a police department spokesman said.

Arrested and charged with assault to commit murder and carrying a loaded and concealed weapon was Vernon Wayne King, 28, formerly of Salinas, but currently a transient, police said.

King was sent to Chope Community Hospital for observation police said.

Options Told For Courthouse

Eight proposed options for future utilization of the old San Mateo County Courthouse in Redwood City range from a complete renovation at a cost of more than $6 million, to demolition of the building and sale of the property, in a report submitted to the Board of Supervisors Thursday by a consultant firm.

The board requested its staff and representatives of the consultant firm of Hughes, Heiss & Associates of San Mateo to submit specific recommendations for consideration at a meeting Oct. 21 at 9 a.m. in Redwood City.

The report is one of a series being made by consultants concerning the county's long-range capital improvement needs.

Consultant Jay Cellert told the board that more precise information concerning costs and structural considerations will be made in a second phase report after the board indicates its desires concerning the future of the old courthouse.

Consultant Rich Hughes said that renovation of the courthouse to meet seismic safety standards for continued public and employee use could result in a cost in excess of $6 million.

He noted, however, that the cost figure includes the razing of the two annex buildings joined to the north and south sides of the courthouse, and the expense of providing replacement space for the annexes.

Hughes said that the option would retain the historical value of the courthouse, built in 1906, and improve the aesthetics of the site, on Broadway between Hamilton Street and Middlefield Road in downtown Redwood City.

Hughes said that a minimum renovation, including razing of the annexes, could be done for an estimated $4.2 million.

A maximum renovation of the courthouse and retention of the annex structures could be done at an estimated cost of $3.5 million.

If the county wants to raze the old courthouse and the north annex, retaining the fiscal building on the south side of the courthouse, the estimated cost would be about $2.7 million, including the cost of providing replacement office space.

Hughes, in another option, said that the old courthouse and the north annex could be used for storage purposes, but that it would cost an estimated $2.3 million to relocate personnel in other office space.

Hughes noted that in recent years there has been interest in the possibility of using the old courthouse as a commercial complex, featuring craft shops and related facilities. This, he said, would entail the sale of the courthouse with the proviso that it be retained by the buyer. Also, he added, it would put the nearly one-acre site on the property tax rolls.

Again, it would cost an estimated $3.7 million in capital funds to replace the 76,300 square feet of space occupied by the three buildings.

Finally, Hughes said, an option would be to demolish the buildings and sell the site for new commercial development. He didn't have an estimate on what price the property would bring.

Ringling Bros. Acts Visit Finocchio's

FINOCCHIO'S, home of the world famous female impersonators, was invaded by 115 performers from the Ringling Brothers Circus, one recent Sunday night. The entertainers, who delight so many audiences each season, got their turn to be entertained in a grand manner at this historic San Francisco nightspot. Mitsu, the "world's smallest man" and recent newly-wed in a Circus spectacular, endeared himself to all when he got up on the Finocchio stage. Be sure to see the fantastic revues at Finocchio's in four shows nightly, except Mondays. For those who fancy the nautical with romantic surroundings, THE MOONRAKER, NICK GUST's showplace restaurant on the shores of Pacifica, is a natural. Reservations are suggested. In the same complex downstairs is CAPTAIN CHARLES, which features gourmet seafood for every taste. Also overlooking the horizon of the Pacific is NICK'S restaurant and lounge, where the action is brisk for breakfast, lunch and dinner every day of the week. Now is a good time to make arrangements for those holiday parties in the banquet facilities. As part of the recent remodeling project at BARNEY'S CASINO, South Lake Tahoe, the new coffee shop provides patrons with a cheerful atmosphere in which to relax while enjoying the casino's gaming excitement. Special note: Set your appetite sights on the BAYHILL LOUNGE for a ravioli treat that comes under the heading of "giant sized". Pay heed to the Bayhill Lounge coupon advertisement and head your car for the Bayhill Shopping Center in San Bruno at lunchtime. Guests at LEHR'S GREENHOUSE GARDEN restaurant in San Francisco who admire a gazebo, ceramic planter or Hawaiian anthurum can take it home with them. "Everything in the restaurant is for sale," says head gardener MURRAY LEHR, "except the maitre d' and the waiters".

VERSATILE ARTIST

Glen Campbell, one of the world's best-selling recording artists, continues in the South Shore Room at Harrah's Tahoe, through Sept. 30.

Phil Lehr's, Taylor And Ellis, New Menu

Bay Area gourmets are singing the praises of the exceptionally delicious new specialties just added to the menu at PHIL LEHR'S Wellington Room, Taylor and Ellis parking lot entrance in San Francisco. Rack of lamb Wellington (baby spring lamb topped with a creme de menthe pear, enclosed in a golden puff pastry shell) and Phil's incomparable Stonehouse Steak are among the most popular new items, and seafood lovers are flipping over Phil's salmon en croûte (fresh fillet of chinook salmon baked in a puff pastry shell to seal in all of the flavor). You can even begin your dinner with Caesar Salad for two and end it with flaming desserts like Peach Pardon, Cherries Jubilee and Crepes Suzette. It all adds up to an unforgettable dining experience in a setting of elegance. ENRICO ROMANO, owner-operator of ROMANO'S Italian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, puts his culinary talents to the test by preparing pizzas of many varieties and a wide range of Italian dishes. Specialties of the house are also numerous and are changed often. It is best to make reservations when planning dinner at SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S in Redwood City. Prime Ribs of Beef and Mahi Mahi are a winning nightly Exacta—and you can bet on it.

Rodeway Inn Presents Sunday Buffet Brunch

This Sunday, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. is the Champagne Buffet Brunch at the RODEWAY INN, South San Francisco. If all goes as well as anticipated, General Manager ERIK PEDERSEN says the buffet will be an every-Sunday event. You may choose from an array of Sunday brunch enticers such as Eggs Florentine, Orange Cheese Blintz, Banana Fritters and Gold Glazed Salmon. Also included in the $4.25 price is sparkling champagne. Bring the family or make up a party and feast lavishly but reasonably this Sunday at Rodeway Inn. LA PINATA in Burlingame doesn't lack for parking space—inside or outside. This is one of our favorite Mexican restaurants—and one visit will make it one of yours, too. By popular demand, MARTINELLI'S STEAK PIT in Millbrae is now open for business every night of the week. If you like Teriyaki Steak, this is the Sunday "Special of the Week". Served with vegetables and spaghetti. The LICATA FAMILY is to be commended on the sweepstakes success of VINCE'S ITALIAN and SEAFOOD restaurant and the next-door FISH DEPOT. The hospitality, superior service and brand of food featured at this San Mateo restaurant are really appreciated by its host of customers. The warm mellow voice of EDDY ARNOLD continues to delight audiences in HARRAH'S RENO Headliner Room nightly, through Sept. 29. Comedian BOB MELVIN and the MIKE CURB CONGREGATION join Arnold in the two shows nightly. JOHN CARLETON and his orchestra provide the accompaniment. The "Two Teen Burgers for 99¢" offer is now valid through September 27 at all participating A&W RESTAURANTS. Clip the coupon (one per party, per visit) and get in on this "Revelation Combination." Teen Burgers include all beef patty, cheese, bacon and more.

Le Pacini

C. C. Johnson Spink, editor and publisher of the Sporting News, last March reprinted parts of a study done by Drs. P. E. Allsen and Elmo Roundy of Brigham Young University concerning recruiting, which is obviously the main concern these days among big time college basketball and football coaches.

What the study attempted to determine was what factors most influence a highly recruited high school athlete when it comes time for him to make his decision. With the college football season now underway, the information accrued in the study seems apropos at this time.

Allsen and Roundy selected 64 football and 51 basketball players from colleges which were representative of NCAA geographical districts and which had records of excellence in basketball and football.

The players contacted were the three best freshman basketball prospects and the five best frosh football prospects as selected by head coaches of the respective sports.

As Spink reported, on a scale of 1-10, with one being the highest and 10 the lowest, the football players listed the following reasons for selecting a school: 1) Football tradition (3.2); 2) Coaching staff (3.4); 3) Educational opportunities (3.7); 4) Campus facilities (4.9).

Basketball players went this way: 1) Coaching staff (2.3); 2) Basketball tradition (3.0); 3) Educational opportunities (4.4); 4) Style of ball played.

Draw from the above what you will. Meantime, Spink reported that the good doctors also emerged from the study with some other results worth noting, especially that basketball players are more heavily recruited than football players.

All I'm wondering about is why basketball players don't give one damn about campus facilities. Shouldn't they worry at least about what size the frat house beds are?

Another interesting, if not downright ironic item appeared in a much later Sporting News. The week that the 49ers released quarterback Norm Snead, Los Angeles columnist Bob Oates was writing about how lucky the 49ers were to have Snead, because he was without doubt the perfect pro backup quarterback. Unluckily for Snead, Oates doesn't coach a team.

Now that the NFL draft has been declared unconstitutional by the courts, it sort of makes old George Allen look like a genius, doesn't it? I mean, he's stocked an entire football team by trading away illegal holdings legally.

Have you noticed the name of the Notre Dame fullback? How appropriate can a football name be for Notre Dame. Jerome Heavens. The athletic publicity director at the school of the golden dome is really hot this year.

He's better than the guy who was hoping Frank Leahy would draft somebody named Francis Bacon to go with the Bill Shakespeare they already had in the backfield. That PR man was going crazy just thinking of the headline and promotional possibilities in that name combination.

For the record, Heavens became a regular as a freshman last year midway through the season.

Gee, do you suppose it would be too much to hope that Heavens is a CB radio fanatic and that he has a girl friend named Betsy? "This is Heavens to Betsy, Heavens to Betsy." That's enough. I've got to stop. Genius is something painful.

OAKLAND, AS EVERYBODY KNOWS, is setting all those base stealing records, but Kansas City, as this is written, has a base stealing record that Oakland hasn't yet approached, and which possibly no team in history has accomplished.

KC has eight players in double figures in stolen bases. (Hal McRae, George Brett, Amos Otis, Al Coons, Dave Nelson, Jim Wohlford, Freddie Patek and Frank White). The A's have seven.

And believe it or not, old Lou Brock, who admits to 37, and who no longer plays every day, is at this moment tied for the National League lead in stolen bases with Joe Morgan and Pittsburgh shortstop Frank Tompa.

If Giant rookie Jack Clark, who says he is most comfortable at and at his best in right field, proves to be as good as the Giants think he is, the stage seems to be set for the trading of Bobby Murcer for a solid left handed starting pitcher.

It would be tough to see Murcer go because he's still one of the great baseball players, parts of this season notwithstanding. But face it, aside from their good young pitchers, who they must hang on to, Murcer is about the only really marketable excess the Giants have.

Seems here that Bowie Kuhn did the American League no favor when he decided to allow designated hitting in the World Series. No matter who the NL sends to the fall classic, as they call it — whether it be the Reds, Phillies or Pirates — that team will have better hitters on the bench than any American league club will be able to produce.

LOCAL NOTES:

As you probably already know, Bruce Rhodes, the free agent who made all the roster cuts to be retained by the 49ers as a reserve defensive back, was a running back for San Francisco State in 1973-74. And a good one, with 4.5 speed in the 40. He was also an outstanding receiver, and played on the defensive team when needed. But, wouldn't you know it, Rhodes couldn't even get an Honorable Mention when it came time to pick the All Far Western Conference team.

Bob McClure, the former Terra Nova southpaw pitching whiz was recalled by Kansas City for help down the stretch.

Another Tiger grad, Kevin McBride, returns to Menlo College to try to repeat his performance as an all-star center. Former Tigers joining McBride are guard John Favuzzi and defensive end Art Kirkpatrick (who may also back up McBride), both returning, and new corner Dave Matas, who may be either a running back or a linebacker.

MISCELLANY:

If you're wondering why the Yankees have been the most consistent club in the American League this year, look at their team status.

They have been second and third in team batting average all year, second in runs scored, fluctuated between first and second in home runs, have been third in doubles, third in stolen bases, and currently have the top team ERA.

You can win a bar bet with this one. What college basketball coach holds the all-time record for most wins in one season, and how many wins? It was Phog Allen, the legendary Kansas coach. This is the incredible part. One year he won 71 games. How did he do it? Easy. He coached two other smaller college teams besides his outstanding Kansas Squad.

Aside from pitchers, no Chicago Cub player on the current roster except for usual September cattle calls (has come up through the farm system in 12 years. The last such rarity was Don Kessinger).

Here's another bar bet winner. Just ask Ty Cobb ever pitched in the major leagues. The answer is yes. He pitched three games, two in 1918 and one in 1925, when he was 39 years old. He pitched a total of five innings, gave up six hits and two walks, but not a run.

Aggressive Regents Win

Serramonte Snaps SM Win Streak

By TIM MENICUTCH
Post Correspondent

All good things must come to an end — and the good thing San Mateo High's football team had enjoyed since 1973 came to an end Friday in Daly City.

An aggressive Serramonte team downed the Bearcats 23-13 in the season opener for both teams to snap a 22-game win streak, the longest ever by a Mid-Peninsula League team.

The last loss San Mateo had suffered was to Capuchino, 16-8, in the fourth MPL game of the 1973 season.

"Sure, we're disappointed," said San Mateo Coach Dave Broliar. "But this is a completely different team, and there's no reason why these kids should have to take the burden of ending the streak.

"Besides — the loss may not be as bad as it seems now. Psychologically it sure takes a lot of pressure off the team."

San Mateo drew first blood by driving 41 yards on eight plays, capped by quarterback Mike Henson's 26-yard floater to halfback Sidney Hall.

The Regents tied it up late in the first quarter when fast-stepping Darryl Jones scooted around right end for 13 yards.

Just before halftime Serramonte grabbed the lead for good when big quarterback Dan Lara snuck across from the five. The play was set up by a bad San Mateo pitch, which Serramonte pounced on deep in Bearcat territory.

San Mateo came out fighting in the second half. Fullback Barry Graves ended a 43-yard drive by scampering 10 yards for a score on the Bearcats' second possession. Although the Bearcats controlled the ball most of the remainder of the game, it was to be their last score of the afternoon.

Serramonte chalked up six more points when Ron Gibson found daylight around the end and danced 17 yards into the end zone. Russ Pinomaki added his third extra point of the game.

The Serramonte defense completed the scoring by trapping Henson in the end zone for a safety.

"This is one of the smartest teams I've coached in a while," commented Serramonte Coach Jack Thur. "They catch on quickly. Even though we won, we still made a lot of mistakes, but we're growing and should improve from here."

Broliar, analyzing his team's loss, didn't seem too concerned. "Considering 16 of 22 starters were juniors, I was quite impressed with their performance," he said. "Mistakes aren't unusual for a team as young as this. They were very nervous, but at times we played exceptionally well."

San Mateo 7 0 6 0-12
Serramonte 7 7 0 2-22
Scoring: SM—Hall 36 pass from Henson (Nietzen kick); S—Jones 13 run (Pinomaki kick); S—Lara 5 run (Pinomaki kick); SM—Graves 10 run (kick failed); S—Gibson 17 run (Pinomaki kick); S—safety; Henson tackled in end zone.

Panther Long-Gain Efforts Beat Rams

By DAN BERTELOTTI
Post Correspondent

It wasn't a baseball game, but the order of the evening was the "home run."

Burlingame High's football team used its long gainer offense perfectly Friday night to defeat visiting Westmoor 28-21 in a wild non-league opener for both teams.

All four of Burlingame's scores came from outside 40 yards, as did one of Westmoor's in the crowd-pleaser.

With 6:20 left in the game, Westmoor got to within 14-13 on a 50-yard TD option run by Ram quarterback Jack Dorn. Burlingame's Dan Williams broke through the middle to block the extra point.

Facing a second down and 48 on his own 24 after a penalty and a sack, Burlingame quarterback Rusty McDowell faded back to pass and found Brian Peagler behind the Ram secondary for a 76-yard TD.

Brian Hori's conversion kick made it 21-13 with 5:27 left. Westmoor looked finished.

But the Rams went 65 yards in three plays, with Dorn scoring on an option run from 12 yards out. A two-point conversion pass from Dorn to Jim Smith tied the game with 4:05 left.

Westmoor's ensuing onside kick failed and Burlingame took over on the 50-yard line. Halfback Byron Hawkins lost two yards on the first play. Hawkins then broke the Rams' backs.

He took a pitch from McDowell around left end. About 15 yards downfield he looked to be hemmed in on the sideline. But he almost came to a complete stop and cut back to the middle of the field and went the remaining yardage, completing a 52-yard TD which won the game.

Westmoor got the ball back with 2:43 left, but a fumble recovered by the Panthers' Steve Judge foiled the threat.

Hawkins ended up with 162 yards on 10 carries, had one reception for 44 yards and scored three touchdowns. McDowell threw for 136 yards.

Dorn and the only running back in the Westmoor double wing setup, Mike McClennan, each ran for exactly 100 yards. Dorn passed for 73 yards.

Westmoor 7 0 0 14-21
Burlingame 0 14 0 14-28
Scoring: W: Crossland 7 pass from Dorn (Toohy kick); B: B. Hawkins 44 pass from McDowell (Hori kick); W: Dorn 58 run (kick blocked); B: Peagler 76 pass from McDowell (Hori kick); W: Dorn 12 run (Smith pass from Dorn); B: B. Hawkins 52 run (Hori kick).

Camino Falls to Carlos

Speedster Gary Davenport scored two touchdowns to lead San Carlos High to a 21-6 non-league football victory over El Camino Friday night at South San Francisco's Clifford Field.

Davenport scored on a 76-yard punt return in the second quarter, and on a 24-yard interception return in the fourth quarter. He also had a 67-yard kickoff return which did not lead to a score.

Scott Steward's 10-yard touchdown pass to Toni Edwards was the only score mustered by San Carlos' offense.

Camino tallied in the third period, when wide receiver Jim Nishida made a tremendous catch on a seven-yard scoring toss from Alan Kern.

San Carlos 7 7 0 7-21
El Camino 0 6 0 6-6
Scoring: SC: Davenport 76 punt return (Nolan kick); SC: Edwards 10 pass from Steward (Nolan kick); EC: Nishida 7 pass from Kern (kick blocked); SC: Davenport 24 interception return (Nolan kick).

Jefferson, Crestmoor Take Tie

Fumbles and interceptions dominated play as Crestmoor High's football team battled visiting Jefferson to a scoreless tie Friday in San Bruno.

Crestmoor attempted a 26-yard field goal with 30 seconds left in the game, but the effort fell short and wide to the right.

The Falcons also mounted a serious drive midway in the second period after a Dennis Heaney interception gave Crestmoor possession on the Jefferson 30 yard line.

Crestmoor moved inside the three yard line but was stopped on four consecutive downs.

The Falcons netted 186 total yards compared to 93 for Jefferson. There were 12 turnovers in the contest — seven by Jeff and five by Crestmoor.

Daily playground activities are designed for children seven years and over and will offer leadership in a variety of active games, trips, playdays, and special events throughout the year.

Cougars Tip Gunn On Campbell Kick

Quarterback Grant Campbell's extra-point kick in the fourth quarter gave Half Moon Bay a 13-12 win over host Gunn Friday in the non-league football opener for both schools.

Half Moon Bay trailed 6-0 at the half, but tied in the third quarter on Jackie Quinlan's four-yard run. Peter Welty scored from four yards out in the fourth period, and Campbell's kick made it 13-6.

Gunn scored with three minutes remaining, but couldn't convert, and HMB ran out the clock.

Quinlan picked up 104 yards on 22 carries; Welty packed 17 times for 93 yards as the Cougars rolled for 292 overall.

SSF, Woodside Tie

It was an afternoon of mutual frustration Friday for the high school teams of South San Francisco and Woodside.

The two non-league opponents from opposite ends of the county both missed crucial scoring opportunities and ended up in a 6-6 tie in a season opener at Woodside.

Serra Rips Awallt 34-14

By JOHN MURPHY
Post Correspondent
Serra High quarterback Rick Grossmann connected on three touchdown passes Friday as the Padres defeated Awallt 34-14 in Mountain View.

Serra (2-0) trailed Awallt 14-7 until Grossmann led a 64-yard drive culminated by Jim Tumy's four-yard touchdown reception with 38 seconds left in the first half.

Dave Kniffin broke through to block an Awallt punt, setting up Serra's go-ahead touchdown early in the third quarter. Halfback Mike La Forge completed a short drive with a 21-yard burst, and Serra led 21-14.

After holding Awallt on its ensuing possession, the Padres took over again on their own 39. They covered the distance in seven plays, with Ken Meyersieck taking a 26-yard scoring toss for 28-14.

Grossmann capped the Padres' scoring with 1:08 left in the game on a nine-yard keeper around left end. Serra's QB completed 14 of 23 passes for 231 yards. Meyersieck hauled in seven of those receptions for 141 yards. Grossmann also had a 10-yard TD strike to La Forge in the first period.

The Padres' ground game was somewhat ineffective against a large Awallt front line. Fullback Steve Venditti managed 54 yards on 16 carries to lead Serra's rushers.

Serra 7 14 0 34
Awallt 0 7 0 14
Scoring: S — La Forge 10 pass from Grossmann (Meyersieck kick); A — Kelly 15 yard fumble return (Stephens kick); A — Heaslett 19 pass from VanDervoort (Stephens kick); S — Tumy 4 yard pass from Grossmann (Meyersieck kick); S — La Forge 21 run (Meyersieck kick); S — Meyersieck 26 yard pass from Grossmann (Meyersieck kick); S — Grossmann 9 yard run (kick blocked).

After a scoreless first half, Woodside drove early in the third quarter to a 28-yard field goal by Scott Lewis.

But Woodside, hurt by a pair of penalties for 21 yards, finally had to settle for another Lewis field goal — this one for 42.

SSF, however, quickly knotted the score when David Palmer took the ensuing kickoff and boomed 88 yards down his right sideline for a touchdown. The extra point kick was blocked.

In the fourth quarter, two Brett Cesarin runs totaling 32 yards and a 10-yard penalty brought Woodside to the SSF nine. That drive ended on an Elia fumble recovery for the Warriors at the 21.

SSF proceeded to march down to the Woodside 18, only to be stopped on downs at the 20.

Woodside 0 0 0 0-6
Scoring: W — Lewis 28 FG; W — Lewis 42 FG; SSF — Palmer 88 kick-off return (kick blocked).

One-Year Study Of Budget Is Planned by Unit

By JOHN CURRY
Since it appears that local property taxes aren't going to go down without a reduction in local government costs, a group of those government officials decided Tuesday night to study a possibly massive reorganization of their jurisdictions.

Representatives of about 17 of San Mateo County's 97 public taxing agencies dined at the Villa Chartier in San Mateo at the request of County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald.

They debated how to meet their costs in the face of possible taxpayer revolts, a reported 40 percent hike in property valuation next year and the fact that there's only so much revenue available to them.

After 90 minutes of discussion the county, city, school district and special district officials approved a suggestion by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, R-Redwood City, for a one-year study of the current annual budgets of all 97 of the local agencies. The study would be done by a panel of at least 11 elected officials, two each appointed by the Board of Supervisors and Special Districts Association, three each by the county Council of Mayors, with one from each area of the county and by the School Boards Association and one by the county Board of Education.

Fitzgerald said he would convene the new panel in about three months and officially charge it with its mission. A report and recommendations on how to cut costs is expected in a year.

Larry Armstrong, executive director of the Governmental Research Council of San Mateo County, volunteered to "make this our number one priority" and assist in the project. Not everyone was full of enthusiasm for that idea, however.

San Mateo City Councilman John Condon chided the county government for "an archaic structure" and noted that autonomous school districts have fought such things as parks because of their own loss of revenue. There are also some unnecessary special districts, such as the county Mosquito Abatement District, Condon said, remarking that "The effort isn't being made to cut. You can cut but you aren't going to do it."

Daly City Councilman William Schumacher suggested welfare programs should be taken over by the federal government. This burden and school costs are the most "onerous" to property tax payers and shifting the welfare load would be relief for them, he said.

San Mateo County Community College District Chancellor Glenn Smith warned that a school district's major expense is for instruction and that "Every one of us could examine productivity, or qualitative output," as opposed to the "quantitative output" most often measured by school districts in the past to justify their expense.

County Schools Superintendent J. Russell Kent argued that alternative sources of revenue must be found because the property tax for schools couldn't be eliminated "without almost doubling the income tax in California."

Lyon Decries Visitation Suit

Fred Lyon, San Mateo attorney and candidate for the Board of Supervisors, has charged that a suit filed Friday by Visitation Associates to force San Mateo County to allow full development of San Bruno Mountain was baseless and without merit.

"I have reviewed Visitation Associates' brief on file with the California Supreme Court, and it fails to state that our Board of Supervisors did approve a plan for construction of 2000 housing units."

Instead, Visitation Associates attempts to portray the Board of Supervisors as irrational no-growthers. Their lawsuit is typical of the one-sided name-calling campaign they, and their supporters have been waging all along to get their development approved," Lyons said.

Although Visitation

Associates courted labor support for its project, this litigation will probably delay construction of the 2,000 housing units that were approved, and that I feel confident will be upheld by the courts," Lyons added.

"This unnecessary delay shows that Visitation Associates has no real interest in labor or in the 350 jobs that would be created by the supervisors plan," Lyons said.

Lyon is the only Supervisorial candidate who supports leaving the saddle of San Bruno Mountain in open space.

"Visitation Associates apparently thinks that only the South County should have open space. I believe the people of the North County are entitled to the open space that preserving the saddle will provide," Lyons said.

Leo Ryan Lists Own Income

Congressman Leo J. Ryan (D-San Mateo) has issued a report on his current financial condition, his 1975 income and his 1976 income up to July 1. Ryan challenged his Republican opponent to do likewise.

"Personal honesty is the first requisite in a public servant," Ryan said, "and I believe the voters have a right to know the personal income sources for Congressional candidates in addition to their campaign contributions."

Ryan's 1975 income statement listed his annual Congressional salary at $42,850, the interest on savings at $489 and other income, including book royalties and fees for speaking engagements at $1,463, for a total of $44,802 for the year.

For the first six months of 1976, Ryan's total income was listed at $22,973. It included his Congressional salary at $22,300, interest on savings at $315, and other income, including book royalties and fee for one speaking engagement at $358.

Congressman Ryan's current financial report listed a net worth of $54,400 with assets valued at $129,500 and liabilities shown at $75,100.

The major asset listed was his house at $97,000 with a mortgage against it of $73,000.

McRobert Stewart, candidate for the Fifth District seat on the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, has called for innovative solutions to the water crisis the county faces.

The afternoon will include a three-course lunch, plus door prizes, coupons, recipes and games.

Tickets are $3.50 and may be purchased from Mrs. Kathy Hughes (756-8279) or Mrs. Teri Hughes (994-0067) before Oct. 4.

Papan Aide Will Speak In Pacifica

Rick Silver, aide to Assemblyman Lou Papan, will speak on the new coastal protection measure Thursday, at 8 p.m. at the Muffin Mine Restaurant in Eureka Square.

The occasion will be the third meeting of the recently-formed Pacifica chapter of the Concerned Citizens Coalition.

The CCC vice-chairwoman, Donna Starr, invited members of the public to hear Silver, who also will speak on Pacifica's current sewage treatment plant problems.

Stewart Urges Another Water Source

Sanitation District as the kind of approach he advocates toward meeting the water shortage.

"Under construction now in Daly City is a wastewater treatment plant that will turn sewage into water that can be used for irrigation," he said.

"The State Clean Water Act now mandates this level of treatment, but too often that useable water is dumped into the ocean or bay."

Stewart — who has served as chairman of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District — said that the Daly City plant alone will provide 7.8 million gallons a day of irrigation water.

"That means that seven-eight million gallons of water a day will be saved from our primary water systems," said Stewart.

"That's enough water to serve the daily needs of 70,000 to 80,000 people."

Stewart also explained that every gallon of treated wastewater used for irrigation helps to restore the well fields and aquifers, providing additional water resources to draw from.

"We need to implement creative programs like this throughout the County, if we are to assure ourselves and our children of the water we need at a price we can afford," Stewart said.

The Board of Supervisors seat Stewart is seeking will be decided in a runoff contest in the Nov. 2 election.

SSF Teacher Negotiation Delay Called Unnecessary

Teacher salary negotiations for 1976-77 may have been needlessly stalled because of a misinterpretation of collective bargaining rules, the South San Francisco Unified School District trustees learned late last week.

The district staff on Friday was seeking the advice of its legal counsel, the firm of Patterson and Taggart of Palo Verde, to determine if negotiations can legally get underway.

If so, Board President Tom Henkle said, preliminary negotiation activities could begin by the end of the month and actual negotiations would get underway in October — months sooner than had been expected.

"My understanding right now is that we can proceed," said Acting Supt. Tom Gaffney Friday.

The confusion was brought to light by South San Francisco Classroom Teachers Association President John Heron Thursday.

It centers around the Rodda Act, which cuts up new collective bargaining procedures for California's public schools.

The act says that only one union may represent all teachers in the district, 600 in the case of SSFUSD.

But the South San Francisco school board and teachers have been in a conflict over the inclusion of substitute teachers in the SSFCTA, the only union interested in representing teachers there.

The two parties are awaiting a ruling now from the Educational Employment Board (EERB).

In the meantime, the district has refused to negotiate with the CTA over 1976-77 salary increases and fringe benefits.

The SSFCTA was ready to present a negotiations package in March but district officials refused to accept it, saying that the union has not been officially recognized.

However, Heron told the surprised board Thursday night that EERB ruled this summer that school districts can negotiate on all items other than those in dispute — in this case substitute teachers.

He also told them that an election by the teachers to certify CTA's stature after the EERB ruling is not mandatory.

The board had requested that election, which would have cost several thousands of dollars and further delayed negotiations.

Upon hearing Heron's statements, the board members said they would seek an immediate explanation from their own legal firm.

If their negotiator, attorney William Kay, approves negotiations will begin as soon as possible.

Gaffney said Friday he is seeking a specific clarification of the EERB's regulations.

If negotiations do begin, he said, there will have to be a stipulation that substitute teachers will not be discussed until EERB rules.

Gaffney defended the board's law firm and, as well as the firm's failure to make the board aware that it could negotiate.

"The problem lies in a whole new field of labor law, specifically applied to schools," he said. "Both sides are learning."

In addition, he said EERB is constantly passing new rules. The right to negotiate prior to an EERB board ruling on a point of dispute was handed down early this summer.

"All of us are not up on these changed rules," Gaffney said.

I question why the CTA

did not come forward and petition us earlier," Gaffney said.

Baron said the board since March has been insisting that negotiations not begin until all matters are cleared up, so the CTA didn't pursue it further.

"The CTA assumed the district's information was as good as ours," he said. Heron said the CTA attempted to present its salary package to a district official in the spring but that official — who he refused to name — would not accept it.

The package, he said, has been ready since then and could be presented to the board immediately.

Board President Tom Henkle said he had an inkling earlier Thursday that negotiations might be able to get underway when he talked with Deputy District Atty. Lee Port.

Up until then, he said, the board had been told that it was best not to start anything until a determination by EERB is made.

He also said he thought the board was required by law to seek an election if there was a challenge on the union's representation.

"We really didn't seek out an election," Henkle said. "We didn't even want it. He said it would have been an expensive waste of time."

He said he does not believe much time has been lost in negotiations because little would have been accomplished during the summer months, anyway.

Board member Ken Austin said the board may have been "overcautious" in its attempt to adhere to collective bargaining laws.

"We felt it was the best course of action," Austin said.

Company Loses On Dismissal

San Mateo County Superior Court Judge William Lana denied a motion Friday for dismissal of suits seeking damages from Blue Cross of Northern California because of alleged refusal to honor hospitalization claims of beneficiaries.

The dismissal was sought by Blue Cross on the contention that clauses in hospitalization contracts call for arbitration of disputes, precluding court suits.

Judge Lanam ruled that Blue Cross had waived the clause after a dispute arose by not demanding arbitration and by not advising the policy holders of the right to arbitration; that the arbitration clause is vague and ambiguous; and that the complaints alleged other issues, such as breach of good faith and false advertising on the part of Blue Cross.

The suits were filed July 27 in Superior Court by Bruce Bailey, a San Mateo attorney, on a class action basis, asserting the some 2,000 persons have been denied payment of hospitalization costs in alleged violation of their agreements with Blue Cross.

Friday's court action, which Blue Cross indicated will be appealed, now requires Blue Cross to file an answer with the court regarding the allegations in the suits.

Benefit by Salvation Army Slated

The dinner will be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars building, 312 Maple Ave., South San Francisco. Donations are $3.50 for adults with reduced prices for senior citizens and children.

Proceeds will benefit the South San Francisco Salvation Army.

OLA Club

Parents, teachers and students of Our Lady of Angels School of Religion will be honored at a coffee sponsored by the OLA Women's Club.

Sept. 26 following the 9:45 Mass, parents will have the opportunity to greet teachers and view the teaching materials used in the classrooms. Books, filmstrips, posters, films and slides of past activities will be on display.

SSF, Fire Fighters Agree on Pay Package

A two-year salary and fringe benefit package for South San Francisco's 70 fire fighters has been approved 4-1 by the City Council, Councilman Dick Battaglia dissenting.

The council went back to the drawing board in June over a retirement plan called "2 per cent at 50."

Since then, City Atty. John Noonan has been devising a way to make that plan agreeable to the City Council and the International Association of Fire Fighters (IAFF), Local 1507.

Battaglia said, however, he still is not satisfied that the plan is on solid legal ground.

"I still have doubts if this goes to court that the city could win," Battaglia said.

He had said earlier that other councilmen approved of the retirement plan as a result of campaign promises to the IAFF. Those other councilmen flatly deny that charge.

As the name implies, the plan allows employees to retire at age 50 and to receive 2 per cent of their final salary multiplied by the number of years of employment.

It was originated by the California Highway Patrol and paid for by the state.

However, the difference is that in South San Francisco the council has agreed that the funding for the pension plan will come from a portion of each fire fighter's salary and that all fire fighters must sign an agreement approving that deduction.

It thus appears to be a plan unique in this state.

The critics, such as Battaglia, say that at a future date the IAFF may turn around and ask the city to pay for the plan.

Union leadership may in future claim that it was illegal for a previous union to sign away rights of new fire fighters to have a full salary increase, they say. The council then would have to agree to pay for the plan or the IAFF might sue the city.

Noonan said that the final agreement makes participation in the pension plan a term and condition of employment.

If a future fire fighter candidate refused to sign, he probably wouldn't be hired, Noonan added.

The agreement says the council can refuse in future negotiations to consider that salary deduction for the 2 per cent at 50 plan as a basis for increasing salaries.

Battaglia, however, said there's nothing to prevent individual fire fighters from challenging the plan in court.

If the city lost in court, the plan would cost taxpayers more than $200,000 a year, critics of the plan have said.

The Public Employees Retirement Service says that once a city agrees to the plan, it can not be rescinded.

The fire fighters also received a 6.1 per cent cost-of-living increase. It brings the top pay for captains to $733.60 bi-weekly, or $19,000 a year, and for fire fighters to $639.52 bi-weekly, or $16,600 a year.

The salary increases are retroactive to June 23. The pension plan will not be implemented until 1977-78.

FARM EMPLOYMENT

There are 3,472,000 people working on U.S. farms. Of these, 2,256,000 are self-employed or unpaid family members. The remaining 1.2 million represent full-time employees of which 511,000 are seasonal.

Delay in Selection Of Group

The formation of a budget committee — intended to get a headstart on the 1977-78 South San Francisco budget — was unexpectedly put off by the City Council this week.

The council's decision surprised city staff members who had been told by the council earlier that the committee was a good idea.

"All of a sudden, it was a no-no," said Acting City Manager Frank Addiego.

Addiego had proposed the formation of the committee at the last of many budget hearings in August.

The council had just finished finalizing the 1976-77 document. It was balanced with the help of reserve funds and the sale of property.

"Undoubtedly the use of reserves this year will compound the problem of balancing the budget next fiscal year," Addiego had said. That's why, he said, staff members should begin immediately evaluating projected expenditures for 1977-78 by forming a committee headed by the city manager.

Addiego said that he asked the council to forward any questions, comments or suggestions regarding the committee to his office by Sept. 1.

No comments were received, Addiego said.

So, Wednesday night he presented the format for that committee to be headed by himself, the fire chief and the assistant to the city manager. After a lengthy discussion, the council voted 4-1, Battaglia dissenting, to postpone formation of the committee.

Family Visitors Needed

Women interested in obtaining training and experience in community social work are being encouraged to join the Service League's Family Visitors program this fall.

Training for new volunteers will be given on Tuesday starting Sept. 28 from 10 a.m. to noon. It will cover interview techniques, communication and active listening skills, role playing, problem solving, information about community resources and development of an understanding of oneself and others through transactional analysis.

Volunteers will be assigned to visit families who have a father in jail. They will help the wife sort out her problems, provide support and encouragement and arrange for food or other physical assistance through the agency's resources.

More details may be obtained from Elizabeth Gheleta, volunteer director at the Service League office, 505 Middlefield Road, Redwood City.

Baring Peach Pie for Two

Good morning, good cooks. Last week we featured an entree for two. This week let us consider baking a pie for two.

The produce counters are displaying peaches at very attractive prices, so now is the time to bake a lovely pie, not a whole pie, but a half a pie. And this is the way you go about it. Form one layer of pie dough into a pie pan, spread half-way with fresh fruit, fold the uncovered pie dough back over the filling, seal edges and flute.

PEACH PIE FOR TWO

- 1/2 cups shortening
- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 to 3 tablespoons water
- 1 1/2 cups fresh peaches
- 1/2 cup sugar (less if you like your pies more tart)
- 1 1/2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
- Butter or margarine

Sift the one and one-half cups flour with the half teaspoon salt into a bowl. Cut in the half cup shortening, using a pastry blender or fork, until mixture is consistency of cornmeal. Sprinkle with cold water, two to three tablespoons, a little at a time, tossing with a fork. Use as little water as possible, just enough to moisten dough. Place on waxed paper. Knead three times. Press gently with paper into a ball. Let stand at room temperature about 15 minutes.

Lightly flour pastry cloth or board and roll dough to a 10-inch circle, one-eighth inch thick. Fold pastry in half, place in pan, and unfold. Fit pastry into pan. Do not stretch pastry.

Spoon the cup and half fresh peaches over one-half of pastry. Combine the half cup sugar and one and one-half tablespoons tapioca and pour over peaches. Dot filling with butter.

To form half pie, fold uncovered pie dough over filling. Seal edges together with water. Form rim and flute the edge. Cut three slits in top crust for vents.

Bake at 375 degrees 30 to 35 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cook on cake rack.

APPLE PIE

- 3 apples
- 1/3 cup sugar
- dash salt
- 1 tablespoon quick cooking tapioca
- Butter or margarine

Prepare pie crust as directed in the peach pie. Pare and slice three apples. Combine salt, third cup sugar and one tablespoon tapioca and mix with apples.

Place apples in half the pie crust. Dot with butter and fold dough over top. Seal edges with water. Form rim and flute edge. Cut slits in top of crust for vents.

Bake in 375 degree oven 40 to 45 minutes or until apples are tender and crust is nicely browned.

Silent Auction Set At Fall Book Fair

A wide diversity of used books, records and sheet music will be on sale at the Friends of the Daly City Library Fall Book Fair to be held Oct. 2 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Westlake Shopping Center Mall.

An innovation this year will be silent auctions of unusual books held on an hourly basis, starting at 11 a.m.

The event serves not only as a recycling of books, whereby volumes no longer needed may find new owners, but proceeds benefit the Daly City Public Library, providing expenditures not covered by normal budget.

Last-minute donations may be left at any of Daly City's four public libraries. Donations are tax deductible.
